

Pet Loss & Grief Support Group

If you or your family are finding it difficult to come to terms with the loss of your beloved pet then it may be worth considering professional support.

We understand the grief journey is unique to each individual pet owner, so we have introduced West Australia's very first Pet Loss & Grief Support Group to assist in making sense of your emotions.

Tracey Woods (Dip Couns, Cert IV Veterinary Nursing, RVN, AVN) has been a vet nurse for over 25 years & has experienced the loss of her own pets. Tracey provides support & guidance to make the sorrow of losing your beloved pet a little less painful.

Date: Sunday 24th March 2019 at 1.30pm (please contact us for additional dates)

Duration: Approximately 2 hours

Location: Lawnswood - 21 Stanford Way, Malaga WA

To register, or for further information regarding our support group or individual counselling, please contact our friendly team on 9248 6464. Alternatively, simply email us with the number of attendees at assist@lawnswood.com.au

Please note: $20 will be requested in advance to ensure your space is secured & this will be donated to the ongoing research and conservation efforts of the endangered wild black cockatoo.

Pet Loss & Grief Support Group

What to Expect

Our Pet Loss & Grief Support Group is designed to provide you with a warm and supportive environment in which to share your story.

We understand that you may feel out of your comfort zone sharing your emotions, so our groups are kept small and intimate to allow you to participate as little or as much as you feel comfortable.

We invite you to share photos and memories of your beloved pet as we discuss the various stages of grief. You are welcome to bring your pet's belongings (such as their favourite toy or collar), and even their ashes should you feel comfortable.

One of the most important aspects of your healing journey is to accept and understand that your feelings are normal and that you are not alone. You may even find that you make a connection with another pet parent.
